Kligerman Gallery

Has Byrd Show

Marcos Byrd, a young artist remembered in San Miguel de Allende for his successful show that resulted from his local studies, will present his enormous scenes at Josh Kligerman Gallery beginning at a 6 p.m. party Saturday, April 16.

Marcos now generally resides in New York City, where at Christmas, 1987, he broke into the East Village scene with a well-received one-man show. However, he divides his time also between Alaska and Denmark, in which country he is also an artist of recognized talent.

Marcos has upcoming an illustrated essay in the East Village magazine Downtown, and he will paint Mexico's Zapata and Villa as part of a giant mural on the facade of the Pathfinder Publishing House in New York City.

The scope of the Kligerman Gallery presentation will be limited in number but not in impact. Kligerman has space for Marcos' mural-like life scenes, which dance with color and detail.
